To,

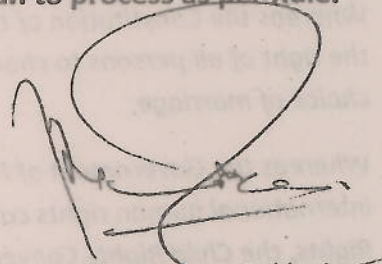

Session 23
Sitting 03

The Secretary,
Provincial Assembly of Sindh.

SUBJECT: - PRIVATE BILL UNDER RULE 94 (1) OF THE RULES OF PROCEDURE OF THE PROVINCIAL ASSEMBLY OF SINDH.

"PRIVATE BILL"

I hereby move an application to submit a Private bill under Rule 94(1) of the Rules Procedure of the Provincial Assembly of Sindh to process as per Rule.

Nand Kumar Goklani
Member
Provincial Assembly of Sindh

Recognizing the right of freedom of religion of all persons;

Recognizing the right of freedom to marry and freedom of choice of marriage of all persons;

Recognizing that forced conversion is an abhorrent, violent and offence and an issue that has become prevalent across the province of Sindh and must be eliminated;

Recognizing the importance of tolerance, peace and respect for all religions and persons, irrespective of their religion;

Whereas it is necessary to criminalize forced conversions and provide for protection for those who are victims of this abhorrent practice;

Whereas the Constitution of the Islamic Republic of Pakistan 1973 provides and protects the right of all persons to choose and practice their own religion and the freedom of choice of marriage;

Whereas the Government of Pakistan is obligated to fulfill its commitments under international human rights conventions including the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, the Child Rights Convention, Convention for the Elimination of all Discrimination Against Women, International Convention of Civil and Political Rights and International Convention of the Economic, Cultural and Social Rights;

- (i) the aggrieved person or victim resides or carries on business;
- (ii) the accused resides or carries on business;

(2) The court shall fix the first date of hearing, which shall not exceed seven days from the date of the receipt of the petition by the court.

(3) On receipt of such petition, the court shall, with or without issuing an interim order, issue a notice upon the accused calling upon him to show cause within seven days of receipt of notice.

(4) Any such notice shall be issued as per law by all modes at once, namely, through Bailiff, pasting, publication and courier all at once and if notice is served by any one of these modes, the notice shall be deemed to have been served.

(5) Any case of forced conversion before the Court shall be disposed off within a period of ninety days and any adjournment given during the hearing of the petition shall be granted for reasons to be recorded in writing by the Court.

Provided that the Court may take cognizance of any complaint or First Information Reports registered with the police.

Chapter VI - Rescue, Custody and Special Procedures in Cases of Forced Conversion

8. Rescue and recovery of victim.— A police officer or any person given such authority under the law upon receiving information of a case of forced conversion may upon investigation take into custody the victim and produce her or him before the Court within twenty-four hours of taking the person into such custody:

9. Warrant to search.— (1) If it appears to a Court from information received on oath or solemn affirmation laid by any person who, in the opinion of the Court, is acting in the interest of the victim that there is reasonable cause to suspect that an offense of forced conversion has been or is being committed or unless immediate steps be taken, will be committed, the Court may make orders to any police officer or any person authorized under the law to search for such alleged victim and if it is found that the person is a victim or intended victim of forced conversion, to remove her or him and deal with her or his custody in accordance with the provisions of the Act and Rules.

(2) The officer executing the warrant may be accompanied by the person laying the information, and may also, if the Court by whom the warrant is issued so directs, be accompanied by the police or any person so authorized by the law or Court or by both.

(3) The Court issuing a warrant under this section may in its discretion by the same warrant direct that any person accused of an offence under this Act be apprehended and brought before it.

10. Temporary custody.— (1) Where a victim or an accused is taken into custody in accordance with Section 8 or 9, she or he shall immediately be produced before the Court and if immediate production of the victim or accused before the Court is not possible due to any reason, the victim shall immediately be taken to the nearest shelter home of a service provider or a child protection institute; and the accused shall be immediately taken to the nearest police station within the jurisdiction of the Court till her or his production before the Court within the stipulated time.

(2) In cases of alleged forced conversion through marriage of a child, the court shall:

may not be in the best interests of the child;

- (c) provide in writing, reasons for not placing the child in the custody of his or her parents or guardians;
- (d) ensure temporary custody in a child protection institute during pendency of the trial if the child is not being placed in the custody of parents or guardians; and
- (e) Ensure that the custody of the child shall not be given to the alleged spouse, his or her family or any person connected therewith, recognizing that child marriages are a criminal offence as per Sindh Child Marriage Restraint Act 2013.

(3) In cases of alleged forced conversion through marriage of an adult, the victim shall be given temporary custody in a shelter home of a service provider during the pendency of the trial, unless she or he can provide a cogent reason to the contrary.

(4) While providing temporary custody as per sub-section 2 and 3, the court may use its discretion in the interest of security, to withhold the information of the location of where the victim is residing from any person with the exception of necessary official personnel.

(5) Any person who discloses the location of where the victim is residing in contravention of the orders of the court shall be liable to penalties as contempt of court as under the Contempt of Court Act 1976 (Act No. LXIV OF 1976) and any other penalties seen fit by the Court.

(6) The victim in temporary custody identified in sub-sections (2) and (3) may be allowed to meet her or his parents, guardians, husband, intended bridegroom or in laws only upon her or his voluntary written consent.

Provided that any such meeting shall be supervised by a police officer or a senior employee of the service provider or child protection institution or any other person authorized by the court.

Provided further that any such meeting may be given police protection at the discretion of the court.

11. Allowing Time for True Decision of Any Person. (1) In cases of alleged forced conversion of an adult, the court shall allow the alleged victim twenty one (21) days for an independent decision regarding conversion to a new religion before initiating a case of forced conversion under this Act.

(2) During this time period, he or she may be provided the opportunity to study comparative religions if he or she desires.

(3) Provisions of temporary custody identified in Section 10 of this Act shall apply during this time period.

(3) Upon completion of the time period, the alleged victim shall record a statement before the court stating whether he or she has converted his or her religion with their own consent and will.

(4) Upon the request and consent of an adult victim to the Court, the provisions of subsection (1) may be by-passed and a case of forced conversion may be initiated immediately.

12. Special Measures may be Adopted. – (1) Special measures may be put in place in cases of forced conversion during the investigation and trial of the matter at the discretion of the court. These special measures may include but not be limited to:-

- (i) Holding the trial in a different and secure location with the approval of the court;
- (ii) Withholding the location of where the victim is residing from any person with the exception of necessary official personnel;
- (iii) Taking the victim's statement and evidence in a secure location approved by the court;
- (iv) Providing police protection during transport of the victim to and from court;
- (v) Passing an order or injunction to prohibit removal of the victim from jurisdiction of the court or police station;
- (vi) to conduct an in camera trial or any other necessary order as per the circumstances;
- (vii) Initiate immediate and fast tracked divorce proceedings upon the consent of the victim of forced conversion through marriage if the accused is found guilty.

(2) The Court shall take appropriate measures to provide adequate security to the prosecution witnesses, investigating officers, prosecutors, the victim, her or his family and the Judges during the pendency of investigation and trial, and if necessary, post the trial.

13. Presence of Persons in cases involving a Child. (1) No person shall be present at

- (ii) the parties to the case before the Court and other persons directly concerned in the case including the police officers; and
- (iii) such other persons as the Court specially authorizes to be present.

14. Withdrawal of Persons from Courts. If at any stage during the course of a trial of a case or proceeding, a Court considers it expedient in the best interest of the victim to direct any person, including the parent, guardian or the victim's spouse, supporters etc to withdraw, the Court may give such direction and thereupon such person shall withdraw. If any person refuses to withdraw, the Court may take steps to remove him or her and hold him or her in contempt of court as under the Contempt of Court Act 1976 (Act No. LXIV OF 1976).

15. Withdrawal of Persons from Court During Examination. (1) If at any stage during the course of a trial of a case, when the victim is examined, any court trying the case or holding the proceeding may direct such persons as it thinks fit, not being parties to the case or proceeding their legal advisors and the officers concerned with the case or proceeding, to withdraw. Such persons shall then withdraw. If any person refuses to withdraw, the Court may take steps to remove him and hold him in contempt of court as under the Contempt of Court Act 1976 (Act No. LXIV OF 1976).

(2) The Court may use its discretion and allow the examination of the victim to be conducted in camera, through video link, in a secure location approved by the court or with the use of screens or employ any other such means if necessary in the best interests of the victim.

16. Prohibition on Publication of Names, Addresses, etc., of Children and Persons of Unsound Mind Involved in Cases or Proceedings. No report in any newspaper, magazine, news sheet or any mode of social media of any case or proceeding in any Court in which a child or a person of unsound mind is involved, shall disclose the name, address or school or include any particulars calculated to lead directly or indirectly to the identification of any such child or person of unsound mind, nor shall any picture be published as being or including a picture of any such child or person of unsound mind in their best interests.

Provided that for reasons to be recorded in writing, the Court trying the case or holding the proceeding may permit the disclosure of the name or any other approved information relating to the case or proceedings, if in its opinion such disclosure is in the interest of the welfare of the child or person of unsound mind and is not likely to have an adverse effect.

17. Cases involving Child Marriages. – (1) In cases involving child marriages, provisions of the Sindh Child Marriage Restraint Act 2013 and its rules shall be applicable in addition to the provisions of this Act.

(2) For purposes of expediency, the cases under the Sindh Child Marriage Restraint Act 2013 and this Act may be clubbed and heard simultaneously.

18. Offences to be cognizable, non-bailable and non-compoundable. An offence punishable under this Act shall be cognizable, non-bailable and non-compoundable.

19. Rules of Procedure. Save as otherwise provided in this Act, all proceedings taken and offences committed under the provisions of this Act, shall be governed by the Code of Criminal Procedure 1898

20. Presumption of Good Faith. No suit, prosecution or other legal proceedings shall lie against any public servant, informer service provider or child protection institute for anything which is done in good faith or purported to be done under this Act.

21. The provisions of this Act shall be in addition to, and not in derogation of, any other law for the time being in force.

22. Power to make rules. Government may by notification in the Official Gazette make rules for carrying out the purposes of this Act.

23. Removal of Difficulties. If any difficulty arises in giving effect to any provision of this Act, Government may make an order not inconsistent with the provisions of this Act to remove the said difficulty.
